Accessibility Statement for the website of Weldon Parish Council

Recent legislation requires public sector bodies with websites to produce an accessibility statement for the benefit of users who may have visual or dexterity-related impairments.

This website is run by Weldon Parish Council. We want as many people as possible to be able to use our website. For example, that means you should be able to:

- zoom in up to 300% without the text spilling off the screen
- navigate most of the website using just a keyboard
- navigate most of the website using speech recognition software
- listen to most of the website using a screen reader (including the most recent versions of JAWS, NVDA and VoiceOver)
- change colours, contrast levels and fonts

We've also made the website text as simple as possible to understand.

AbilityNet has advice on making your device easier to use if you have a disability.

How accessible is the current website?

Our website attempts to satisfy the WCAG 2.1 AA standard, which forms the basis of the new compliance regulations. Elements that satisfy these standards include:

Font sizes, colour contrasts, link contexts, image alternative text, headings, keyboard navigation, screen reader usability.

Note that browser extensions and other software can be used to adjust contrast and fonts manually if desired.

Some parts of this website remain not fully accessible:

- some older PDF documents may not be fully accessible to screen reader software;
- The mobile version of the website could be optimised further;
- Any maps may be difficult to navigate using screen reader software;
- Some elements could be raised from AA to AAA standard, although this is not required by the current accessibility regulations.
